Chanslor Guest Ranch and Wildlife Preserve Offers July 4th Modular-Camping Preview in Partnership with Tortoise Shell Home and Sonoma Mountain Village

Chanslor Wildlife, operator of the historic Chanslor Guest Ranch and Wildlife Preserve in Bodega Bay, Calif., has teamed up with Tortoise Shell Home, LLC and Codding Enterprise's Sonoma Mountain Village in Rohnert Park, Calif., to design and build extremely innovative, high-quality 120-sq.-ft. camping and wildlife-observation units. These units allow campers at Chanslor Ranch to have an unbeatable outdoor experience at one of the most scenic and environmentally significant locations on the Sonoma County Coast. The tiny mobile homes will also be used to develop additional alternative energy and water management systems at Chanslor Ranch. Chanslor Ranch is located one mile north of Bodega Bay at 2660 N. Hwy 1. For more information call George Gross at 707-875-3490 or visit www.ChanslorRanch.com.

Codding Steel Frame Solutions, located at Sonoma Mountain Village in Rohnert Park, provides the units' recycled-steel frames. The steel frame is 50% lighter than wood frame construction, uses 30% recycled materials, and is manufactured in a zero-waste, 100%-solar-powered factory. Chanslor Ranch and Codding Steel Frame Solutions will continue to work together on planned additions at the ranch, such as the Sonoma Coast Environmental Center. Tortoise Shell Home offers high-quality mini homes permanently mounted on a trailer so you can take your home wherever life takes you. With models fully contained, you can hook up to utilities and services or be completely off-the-grid. Homes are fully insulated and feature dual-pane windows, french doors and plumbing. Tortoise Shell Homes are manufactured at Sonoma Mountain Village in Rohnert Park, Calif. Contact William Kastrinos at 707-206-7581 or www.tortoiseshellhome.com for more information.

Sonoma Mountain Village is under development and has been endorsed by BioRegional UK and One Planet Communities as the First One Planet Community in North America in Rohnert Park, Calif. The deeply sustainable mixed-use neighborhood is under development with plans for 1,900 homes and 840,000 sq. ft. of commercial space. New construction is scheduled to begin in 201
